Business Description

Its single-fronted property provides ample space for the store to run effectively. Inside, the open-plan shop displays well-stocked wooden shelves with a selection of different products, allowing customers to peruse at ease. A bar serving health drinks and organic coffee with a refrigerator behind also stands within the shop. To the rear is a room which is rented out to an individual therapist.

A very professional and attractive online presence exists in the form of an easy to use, e-commerce website which showcases the store's wide selection of products. Its Facebook, Twitter and Instagram profiles are also actively utilised for promotional purposes and possess an impressive combined following of over 2,000.

Opportunity

Appealing to a current owner-operator of a related business or an individual with a passion for organic health and beauty, the shop would make an ideal bolt-on or first-time acquisition for a committed buyer.

Various ways to increase the business's overall takings could be exploited by a new owner, namely extending its range of stock to encompass make-up or other items, as well as hosting classes or workshops in the available back room.

As the current owner would be willing to stay on for a transitional period of three months, the new owner would be provided with a full walk-through of business operations.
