Business Description

Offered on a fully relocatable basis, the business for sale currently operates within the area of Wells, Somerset.

The current van used is a leased vehicle which will not be transferred as part of the sale. However, the new owner will benefit from a modern, fully-functional website which ranks well on Google and is backed up by a plethora of positive reviews.

A buyer will also inherit an extensive client database consisting of an extremely loyal customer base, who use the business's services regularly.

The vendor has advised they would be willing to stay on for transitional period, should the new owner require.

Opportunity

This would be a fantastic opportunity for an individual looking to work within the removals sector without having to start from scratch. With an already established reputation and customer base, a new owner would certainly be able to hit the ground running.

Having grown mostly through word of mouth recommendation thus far, the business could easily be grown with further advertising. Making use of traditional methods, such as local leaflet drops, or the introduction of digital marketing on the likes of social media could see a growing demand for the business's services.

Creating a larger fleet of vans to facilitate this demand would also see profits increase.
