Business Overview

"I did my training through Skype. It was like Emma was literally in the room with me. The training was very professional and thorough. After the training I felt super confident. Thanks Emma, I'm looking forward to my next training with you!" - Customer Review

An exciting opportunity has emerged in the health and beauty sector for the purchase of a relocatable training business, positioning itself as the perfect acquisition for both experienced aestheticians and beginners alike. The company offers an extensive range of aesthetic training courses, including skin, body, and face treatments with HIFU, alongside anatomy and physiology, micro needling. PLASMA skin tightening, and needle-less filler training. It also offers training combined with product and equipment purchases for a complete package. These are available for the treatments mentioned above, as well as laser hair removal and EMSculpt.

A significant proportion of the training is provided through online platforms, such as Zoom and Skype, whilst other classes are offered at a training venue or in-person at the student's salon or clinic. The business's high quality of education has attracted clients from all across the globe, although the majority reside in the UK. The business prides itself in offering super customer care both during and after their courses, enabling students to feel confident and empowered with their new skills. The company's excellent reputation is bolstered by its multiple accreditation and use of award-winning technology, making it an industry-leading choice for health and beauty professionals looking to learn about the latest treatments and equipment.

Business Description

This business is fully relocatable which gives the buyer full flexibility over business operations, especially as most of the training is held via online platforms. The company has an immaculately presented website which provides clear and detailed information on each of the training options available. A user dashboard and student portal are also available for ultimate convenience.

The SAV features several training machines, including a Plasma Fibroblast, Needle-Free Filler/Meso Pen, HIFU Radar Vortex Carving, Vela 3D Pro HIFU Multi Line, 3-in-1 Vaginal/Face/Body HIFU, and HIFU Liposonics. These have a total used retail value of £12,000. There is the option to have these machines included in the sale price or purchase the machine list brand new for an extra £8,000.

A transitional period is available and the vendor can train the buyer in all of the necessary fields at a cost of £3,500. The services of a highly effective marketing agency can also be added for £1,000/month.

Opportunity

This is a unique opportunity to purchase and operate a highly reputable health and beauty training business. It would be a fantastic choice for any experienced health and beauty professional who desires to step back from offering treatments, preferring to instead get into training other professionals. However, the training and marketing available also makes it ideal for novices. It is particularly ideal for someone who would like to mostly work from home and communicate with customers from all across the UK and further afield.

The business has experienced significant success so far but there is scope for further growth. A key method of doing this would be to conduct further marketing efforts, particularly through online means to network with more potential clients.
